

Brynn Alberici , Special Events Coordinator

Brynn earned her Bachelor of Arts in Psychology and her Master of Arts in Elementary Education from Fairleigh Dickinson University. She came to Autism New Jersey in 2006 with four years of experience using Applied Behavioral Analysis to work with children on the autism spectrum. She began her career at Autism New Jersey in the Information and Advocacy Department where she taught parents how to advocate for their children’s educational needs. Since then, Brynn has entered the field of event planning and fundraising. She currently works in the Development Department as the Special Events Coordinator. Brynn creates planning committees, organizes fundraisers and uses her background of working with individuals on the autism spectrum to produce autism awareness materials.
